News from the Farm:

This past week we've been focusing on getting our final plantings of everything in the ground. This includes brassicas (such as cabbage and broccoli), beets, carrots, and other plants. We're hoping to be done planting by August, so we can shift our focus to maintenance and harvest of everything that's growing!

Get to Know Your Farmer: Tim

How did you come to Badger Organics? I'm originally from Connecticut, but I moved here from the Virgin Islands, where I lived for 22 years. My wife recently finished school, and it was my turn. I chose to take my farming interest to the next level and started here at Badger Organics.

What is your favorite vegetable? Hot peppers, because I like spicy.

What is your least favorite vegetable? I've never met a vegetable I didn't like.

What is your favorite farm task? Harvest, for now.

Planting some cucumbers a couple weeks ago.

What is your least favorite farm task? Seeding parsnips. Working with the seeds is very hard.

What do you like to do in your free time? In my free time, I look after my granddaughter, Charlie, which usually means having dance parties.

We hope you enjoy this week's produce!
